

There aren't many good resources out there centered around helping speedcubers improve at megaminx.

Although there are resources available for improving at megaminx most provide the same broad advice with little deep explanation, and you are often forced to simply try to watch and copy things you see in higher level solves, slowly analyzing the videos of your own accord.